TITLE/SIGNIFICANCE: Cryogenic tanks. Additional sightings of these tanks may aid the initiator in the identification of the cryogen they contain.
COMMENT: Nearly identical cryogenic tanks have been observed in the Omsk and Kurumoch Rocket Engine Test Facilities, the Kurchatov Institute of Atomic Energy in Moscow and in PNUTS. Slightly more than half of each tank is dark toned. The remainder is light toned and from this end there extends a grillwork which probably protects valve assemblies and also supports the tank when installed vertically. The tanks are approximately 10 meters
